Blessed Are the Mothers

Blessed are the Mothers who love God, for their children shall not be ignorant of their Creator and His plans concerning them.

Blessed are the Mothers who love the word of God, for their children shall know of the way, the truth and the life.

Blessed are the Mothers who love the house of God, for their children shall enter there and sit with them in the presence of God.

Blessed are the Mothers who love to pray, for their children shall feel the power of prayer and many shall find salvation.

Blessed are the Mothers who love to give to the cause of Christ, for their children shall become supporters of the Kingdom of God.

Blessed are the Mothers who love the family altar, for they shall have their reward in this world and in the world to come.

Blessed are the Mothers who love to speak kind words to their neighbors children, for thereby they shall win other boys and girls besides their own to Jesus Christ.

Blessed are the Mothers who love to be companions to their children, for they shall be called understanding Mothers.

Blessed are the Mothers who love to fight life's battles bravely with a strong and steadfast faith in God, for their children shall know where to find strength in time of need.

Blessed are the Mothers who, when they are old and gray, can look back upon memory's wall with no regret and can say. "I brought my children up in the fear of the Lord."

The Beloved

"And he has given us this command: Whoever loves God must also love his brother."

1 John 4:21

John wrote five books in the New Testament. He was big on love! In fact, he was called John, the beloved! In this passage, John was very blunt saying that love was a commandment. You cannot pick and choose who you love. If you love God, you MUST also love your brother. In verse twenty he writes, "If you say you love God and hate your brother, he is a liar." It can't get any more clear than that! I wonder who we think we are fooling when we find reason to dislike our brothers and sisters in the family of God?

My Prayer Today is: Lord, help me to love like You loved, and help me to care like You cared. And Lord, help me to give like You gave; give, so that others might live!

"Happiness is a perfume you cannot pour on others without getting a few drops on yourself."

Safe Haven

Don't ride in automobiles; they cause 20 percent of all fatal accidents. Don't stay at home; 17 percent of all accidents occur in the home. Don't walk on the street or the sidewalk; 14 percent of all accidents happen to pedestrians. Don't travel by air, rail or water; 16 percent of all accidents happen on these. However, only 0.001 percent of all deaths reported occur in worship services. Therefore, the safest place for you to be is in church.

Chicken Marsala

Ingredients:

1 tablespoon butter
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 cup sun-dried tomatoes, chopped
1 cup chicken broth, divided
1 cup heavy cream
1 pound skinless, boneless chicken breast halves skinless, boneless chicken breast halves
salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil
8 ounces dry fettuccini pasta

Directions

In a large saucepan over low heat, melt butter; add garlic and cook for 30 seconds. Add the tomatoes and 3/4 cup of the chicken broth; increase to medium heat and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, for about 10 minutes or until the tomatoes are tender. Add the cream and bring to a boil; stirring. Simmer over medium heat until the sauce is thick enough to coat the back of a spoon. Sprinkle the chicken with salt and pepper on both sides. In a large skillet over medium heat, warm oil and saute chicken. Press on chicken occasionally with a slotted spatula. Cook for about 4 minutes per side or until the meat feels springy and is no longer pink inside. Transfer to a board; cover and keep warm. Discard the fat from the skillet. In the same skillet, over medium heat, bring 1/4 cup chicken broth to a boil; stirring the pan juices. Reduce slightly and add to the cream sauce; stir in basil and adjust seasonings to taste. Meanwhile, bring a large pot of lightly salted water to a boil. Add fettuccine and cook for 8 to 10 minutes or until al dente; drain, transfer to a bowl and toss with 3 to 4 tablespoons of the sauce. Cut each chicken breast into 2 to 3 diagonal slices. Reheat the sauce gently if needed. Transfer the pasta to serving plates; top with chicken and coat with the cream sauce; serve.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Blessing Your Enemies

SOLD OUT
4 JESUS

Bossy', 'Prude', goody-Two-Shoes', 'Snob'

All of these names have become familiar with throughout the years, for I have heard them used in place of my name on several occasions.

We may not be able to control what others say and do to us, but we sure do have the ability, as well as a responsibility, to honor God with our response to others. This is especially true of those who speak ill of us or put us down in some way, shape, or form. It is no easy task, but can only be done with God's grace and strength.

It can be so easy to get caught up in wanting to seek revenge on those who have hurt us or attempted to destroy our reputation in some way. However, it is key to remember that God is the only One who should be avenging wrongs (Romans 12:19). Seeking revenge never makes anyone feel good about themselves long-term, rather it will end up destroying YOU and impact your relationship with Christ.

3 keys to blessing your enemies

1. Even your enemies need God's love

First, it is crucial to recognize that people do not just start bullying others for no reason, although it may seem like that at times. The reality is, people have issues that they carry with them: Just because people appear to be perfect on the outside does not, by any means, reflect what is going on on the inside. If you can grasp this concept, maybe it might be easier to see them as flawed beings in need of God's love.

2. Don't treat people the same way they treat you (Rom 12:17).

When I was in middle school, there were three girls at my church who picked on me constantly. I mean every single Sunday I could always expect there to be some comment made about my outfit or my response to a question in Sunday school. Yes, it hurt to be picked on but, with God's help, I can honestly say I cannot recall a time where I ever sought revenge. Because of this, two of the girls actually became good acquaintances of mine and, to this day, continue to be. The point is, you never know how God is going to work in other people's lives. He has the tremendous power to change them. This is why it is so important to treat them with kindness regardless of how they treat you. You never know who God is going to put in your path down the road. They may need you one day.

3. Pray and forgive

This is such a hard thing to do, but is so necessary for your health - emotionally, spiritually, AND physically. One of the hardest people for me to forgive was a young man who I grew up in church with and dated in high school. He stopped talking to me because of my commitment to purity and, honestly, hurt me more than anyone else with his words and actions. But, you know what? I can truthfully say that I forgive him. It has been a long process, but God has shown me that carrying the hurt and pain around only sabotages my future, and not others. God has helped me realize that forgiveness is the means by which one can find and enjoy true freedom.

We alone have the power to control how we react to how others treat us. How we handle these types of situations tells a lot about who we are and WHOSE we are. There is a fine line between standing up for yourself and acting out of aggression. Standing up for yourself is important and should be done in a loving manner. Confrontation looks different for different people, but the main thing is to do so in a way in which brings glory to God and His name. People are always observing us and making judgments about Him because of what they see in us. You have the choice to be the one who fights back and seeks revenge or to be the young man or woman who seeks peace and pursues it.
